AFTER THE VICTORY-THE AFRO-

cil's Double Play-Its Jubil the Battle Had been Won-Its Oppe ftion to the Administration.

It was announced through the daily press, a few days ago, that the Afro-American Council, that has opposed the Administration from the very date of its organization, would have a Jubilee in the Lincoln Memorial Church. n last Monday night over the victory of the republican party.

All the big guns were invited to tell ill they knew and done in the recent republican victory. The presiding of-ficer was booked for a great speech. He extolled the virtues of the repuban party and related to the audience the part he took in the recent campaign, bdt, he Administration, in the made upon the Administration, in the Vermont Avenue Baptist Church, at he time the Rev. Some of the recent declarations that made are ost amusing and will no mount refresh the minds of those who have been most interested in the success of the party.

There are entirely too many saloons in the vecinity of L street between Connecticut avenue and rist street. This is a colored neighborhood and if the Exercise Board wants to do the just thing towards those people who are opposed to so many saloons, it cal with propriety throw out some of the saloous from 18 to 21 streets any way. There are entirely too many saloons in that neighborhood. If there are too many in Georgetown on M street above 32nd, certainly there are too many in the squares mentioned.

made upon the Administration, in the Vermont Avenue Baptist Church, at the time the Rev. Geo. W. Lee denounced the president because he allowed a confederate badge to be put on his coat.

The first meeting of this Council was held about two years ago, in the Metropolitan Baptist Church. It taxed the ingenuity of Recorder Cheatham and Register Lyons to prevent a resolution from being adopted, denouncing the President and his Administration.

Mr. John P. Green was criticised and condemned by the very organization that held the Jubilee on last Monday. These men were told that they were the apologists and hirelings of the republican administration.

Well there is a great deal of disatisfaction expressed on the part of those interested in the public schools, and especially those principals and directors of color who are now being governed by the white authorities without their consent. Just how long this will last no one can tell. When Mr. George Cook was superintendent the golored teachers and those who questioned Mr. Cook's authority, had easy safling. Now that they are governed without their consent, no doubt a petition will be filed in Congress, declaring that the action of the New Board of Education is unconstitutional.

White men as well as black will fight about a woman, especially it they are interested in them. The dis-graceful scence at Spartansburg, S. The mere fact of one of the white men knocked up against the other was not sufficient to cause for murder. It was indeed a most disgraceful scene and the embarassment of the young lady must have been severe.

Some few days ago, a young colored lad was being tried in the upper court without council. The lad hardly knew how to plead. A colored attorney volunteered his services to defend the lad but the Judge in the up er court would not permit him. There is no Court in the country that would refuse a prisoner's council if he was not

THE FIGHT IN OHIO.

How Broken down Politicians Tried to get into the State-Men who had Denounced the President and the Administration Right Out.

There has been a great deal of talk about certain Southern and other pol-iticians wanting to go into the state of Ohio during the recent presidential contest.

Almost every man who was no good at his own home, neither did he have any influence, wanted to enter the Ohio campaign. There were men who had denounced the Administration and its policy and end avored to use their influence to defeat the President wanted to go into the state of Ohio. The question now is, "was the colored leaders in the state of Ohio justified in opposing these men from coming into the state?" A messenger boy, amall, trim, reticent and deliberate in his movements walked up the steps of a Sixth avenue elevated railroad station, reports the New York Sun, went quietly along the passageway between the ticket seller's window and the ticket chopper's box and there dropped his ticket. The ticket chopper being at that moment stand ing, stretching his legs, the messen ger kept on around the ticket box and dropped in the ticket chopper's chair without a word or a look for anybody.

"I guess you were born tired," said the ticket chopper. No reply from the messenger.

THE LATEST LEGATION.

Republic of Uruguay Is Now Repre Minister of Its Own.

Uruguay has recently determined to maintain a legation at Washington, and in June of last year accredited as its representative Dr. Juan Cuestas, the son of the present executive of that country, a young and talented man, who has already made an excellent impression upon those with whom his official duties have brought him in contact. The new Minister is an alumnus of Montevideo, where he was graduated with the degree of LL. D., and had hardly received his diploma when he was elected to a minor office in his province. Upon resigning this ofrope, studying the politics and people of the various countries, and it was because of his knowledge of foreign affairs that Dr. Cuestas was selected for his present post.

Dr. Cuestas' mission in this country is to make its people better acquainted with the history and resources of his own, about which, he says, he finds the densest ignorance existing among English speaking people, and to stimulate trade, which will be as much to the interest of the . United States as of Uruguay, as there is little traffic between the two countries at present, although there are many things which our manufacturers could James, F. YOUNG MAN HONORED.

Frederick A. Miller Appointed Gen eral Passenger Agent of the C., M. & St. P. Railway.

President Earling, of the St. Paul, issued a circular recently announcing the selection of F. A. Miller to fill the position of general passenger agent of the St. Paul road to succeed George H. Heafford, resigned. The selection of Mr. Miller, who is a brother to Roswell Miller, chairman of the St. Paul board, was no surprise. For some time it had been strongly rumored that he would be advanced from the position of assistant to the head of the department. A more popular selection than that of Mr. Miller could not have been made. No successor with the title of assistant general passenger agent will be appointed, and the work of Mr. Miller's former position will be done by the chief clerk in his office. The new general passenger agent has been connected with the passenger department of the St. Paul since the early part of 1883, and was born at Harford, Pa. He began his railroad service in 1874, with the Cairo & Vincennes railway, at Cairo, Ill., as cashier and ticket seller. He served successively with that company as freight and ticket agent, as clerk in the general freight and passenger office, and from 1878 to 1882 as general passenger agent. When the road was sold to the Wabash in 1883 he was transferred to the parent company, and appointed union ticket agent at Cairo. In 1883 he entered the general passenger department of his present company as clerk. Two years later he was appointed general agent at Chi-cago, and in 1887 assistant general passenger agent.

California's Apricot Crop. Apricots stand next to oranges as a money-making crop in California. Roughly estimated, the present apricot yield is worth $2,500,000 to that state, and the same estimate has it that there are between 40,000,000 and 46,000,000 pounds of apricots in Cali-fornia this year.

Record-Breaking Wheat Crop. Kansas raised this year the biggest grop of wheat ever credited to one plate, and its bank deposits have nearly doubled since 1896.

DONKEY LIKES BEER

A Sad Case of What Seems Inherited Inebriety.

Shaggy Not Only Gets Drunk Herself, But Rushes the Growler for Her Mother-Stays Sober on Sundays Only.

According to the Denver Evening Post, Shaggy is the prettiest littl key that ever came to life in West Der ver. She is so "cute" that the w never pass her without making som remark complimentary to the B

Shaggy is the property of A. E. Thom street and Santa Fe avenue, and how the saloon man came to own her is the way: The man had a friend who was miner and owned Granny, the mother of Shaggy. Granny was a pack donly and a good one, too, before she gua touch of city life. She would carryle master's tools, bedding, provisions and anything that could be piled on be back, up the long, steep mountain a where the owner had a "prospect." & never kicked or grumbled about by labor, and was perfectly contented in her duties and an opportunity to as pine bark and snow to sustain life and strength. The owner of Granny west to Cripple Creek, and of course thedes key went along. He was successful striking a "pocket." and from the me ceeds lined his pockets with good but coin. He got his money for the wa purpose, he said, of spending it, so the inmates of the dance halls showed his the way. He always took Granny will him to the dance halls so he could ris her back to his cabin after he had con sumed all the beer he could hold.

One night, just for fun, some of the men around the dance hall poured enough beer down Granny's throat a get ber about "half seas over." The she reeled into the dance hall like s drunken map and brayed at the min piano. From that time on Grany was worthless as a pack animal. When the pack was placed on her back and she was started up the hill Grany bucked it off and ran as fast as the could for a dance hall. The electric lights, the piano and the beer formed a combination that Granny could not resist, and she became a slave to the liquor habit and a loose character generally. So her owner decided to send her to Saloon Keeper Thomas for the purpose of breaking her of her had habits and to be kept away from eal influences. Granny was tied in a shed back of the saloon and it was not long until a wie bit of a colt was born to her. The odd little beast was christened Shaggy. It grew rapidly, and one day it walked into the saloon and stuck its nose up w the bar. The bartender offered Shage a glass of beer and she greedily druk the beverage from the glass as the lartender held it to her mouth. That turned her head, and now she can sale, ly be termed an incorrigible, without protest from a broken-hearted mother for Granny seems to glory in the B' usual action of her daughter. It was noticed that when Shager turned to her mother after drinking her fill of beer that the kind pares licked the foam off her daughter's lips. All sorts of prunks were played on Shaggy by the men who gathered is the saloon, by "doping" the beer, and she was teased and tormented until she became like a "spoiled child."

She was taught to take a small buckti of beer in her teeth and carry it out to Granny, but she would not carry it astil she had been given all she wanted She was a good drawing eard for the saloon, for men bought beer just for the purpose of seeing the little donker drink it.

One day Shaggy, while very drunk, dropped the pail of beer she was carry ing to her mother and the beer was spilled. Granny, on seeing the accident, brayed loudly, and her wail must have meant something awful in denkey language. Shaggy resented the insult, or whatever it was, and started in to chastise her mother.

Granny had witnessed too many roubles in the dance halls of Cripple Creek to allow herself to be bested. Shaggy had only fairly started on the job she had undertaken when she fell unconscious from a right-and-left up percut from her mother's heels. Shap gy was prefectly sober when she cans to her senses and she has not dropped the pail of beer since.

Every day except Sunday, of course Shaggy drinks all the beer she wants, and can be seen rushing the growler for her ma. Mr. Thomas says it is no use in trying to reform Granny, and insists that Shaggy inherited her taste for liquor. Drunkard or no drunkard however, Shaggy has many friends in West Denver, but children are not it lowed to associate with her on account

DELIGHTS IN CRIME

Strange Case of a Little Girl Now in Jail at Pittsburgh.

Startling Confessions of the Orphan Child Who Tried to Poison and Then Burn Up a Whole House Full of People. A fair little girl o. 13, but a criminal with more than one dark deed to her charge. The police of Pittsburgh have her in charge. She is the child who several weeks ago first tried to poison all the inmates of an orphan asylum, and, failing this, set fire to the building that she might escape. Since the managers of the asylum have turned her over to the city authorities as an incorrigible she has also confessed to the killing of a boy. In a murderous mood she struck the boy in the tem-ple with a stone, and he died two days

A curious psychological study is pre-sented by this child fiend. At present she is being carefully watched to determine whether or not she is insane, though, as yet, there have been no signs of mental derangement, but to the contrary the little girl appears to have a brighter mind than most children of her age. She is gleeful in jail, where all but the long-hardened are miserable, and says that she likes the jail better than any other place.

Margaret May Kinney has been a charge of charity for some time. Her father, who was a waiter in a restaurant, died about a year ago, and her mother died when she was a year old. With three brothers and a sister she was taken by Adam Fisher, a director of the poor, to Wilkinsburg. About two months ago Margaret was taken from the asylum by a family named Miller, who live at 588 Arch street, Meadville, but they returned the child with the report that she was so untrustworthy that they could not keep her.
The child, says the St. Louis Republic, took an unaccountable dislike to the assistant matron, Miss Marie Lewis, who, she claims, beat her. The two other officials living in the house were Rev. Henry Thompson, the superintendent, and at s. Margaret Me-Carthy, the matron. There were 18 shildren in the house when the scheming little criminal crept down into the kitchen at daylight for matches and set fire to a lot of paper in a clothes eleset, with the hope of ourning up the building and making good essape from the place that she hated because of the restraint imposed upon her willfulness. Before the firing of the house, however, Margaret attempted the poisoning of her compan-

All of her crimes she has confessed to the police. The child tells how she found ammonia and zerosene in the kitchen and mixed the stuff together, dropping it into the big boiler of cof-fee that she knew would be served next morning. She had hoped that the mixture would kill those who drank it. Instead of this they were only made very sick. It was noticed that Margaret did not drink any of the coffee, and later, when she was charged with having put something in the boiler, she admitted having added the ammonia and kerosene. She was punished for this, and the next morn-ing in the early dawn she arose, dressed herself, made a bundle of her clothes and went down to the kitchen in stocking feet.

Returning to the room where she had slept, she took tae handful of matches that she had secured in the kitchen and lighted a fire in the closet. She says that when she saw the blaze she was frightened and tried to put it out, but the smoke choked her and she crept back into bed. At six o'clock flames were seen bursting from the building, and several men on the street gave the alarm and rushed to the house to awaken the inmates. Margaret was found almost suffocated from the smoke, and when finally aroused in the fresh air said that she had seen the flames and smoke and hurriedly dressed herself, but was overcome before she could leave the room. Information charging her with arson was entered and she was arrested. Two days later the grand jury of Allegheny county indicted her and ordered her committed to Morganza, where she was refused. While n court she cried, but on the way to fail was as happy as a lark, and laughed and chatted about her attempt to poison the children and burn a score of human beings. When asked why she did it, she replied that she hated the woman who whipped her, and wanted to get away. Margaret says that when she was at Meadville she struck a boy and knew that two days later when he died that it was the result of her blow. This feeling the enormity of her crime.

WAR AGAINST WOLVES.

Nebraska Cattlemen Are Determine to Exterminate Beasts Now Proying on Young Stock.

Western Nebraska is overrun with wolves and coyotes, these animals be ing more numerous now than ever they were known to be in the history of the state. Losses of young cattle and sheep from the depredations of the wolves have been enormous this season. The calves have suffered mostly, but in many cases full-grown steers have been run down by the pests and torn to pieces.

A few years ago in Nebraska a bounty of five dollars was paid by the state for the slaying of each wolf or coyote, but this became such s prolific source of fraud that the taxpayers put a stop to it. The cattle men did all in their power to have the law observed, but the careless hunters would kill wolves over in Dakota or Wyoming, or wherever they happened to find the biggest packs and then present the scalps to the Nebraska officials and claim the reward. In addition to this, a good many enterprising Nebraskans found it paid better to raise wolves than it did to breed cattle, so they sold their eattle and went into the business of raising wolves for the bounty.

As a result of all these methods the wolves and coyotes, instead of becoming fewer, actually increased rapidly in numbers. In 1885 the land boomers advanced the idea that the giving of bountines for the destruction of wild animals was detrimental to the best interests of the state, as it was calculated they said, to cause eastern people seeking investments in western lands to regard the state as being in a primitive condition. This ples wiped out the five-dollar bounty and resulted in a bounty of one dollar on the wolf and coyote scalps being subatituted. So regular wolf hunting eased. The Nebraska Live Stook as sociation, however, up to this day has kept old Wolf Hunter Watson prowling back and forth over the plains of western Nebraska slaying from one to a dozen wolves a day.

The cattle men of Nebraska are reatly aroused over the situation and are earnestly discussing how to get rid of the pests. Mr. J. S. Harvey, a well-known cattle man, suggests all the counties in the western part of the state put in operation the bounty of three dollars on wolves and one dollar on coyotes which they are permitted by the state to offer on a ma jority vote of the citizens of the county. This bounty, added to the state bounty of one dollar for each scalp of wolf or covote, would make it worth while again for professional wolf hunters to take the field and go into the business of hunting down and killing the wolves.

A WYOMING ROMANCE.

Wedding Present to His Eloping Daughter.

W. C. McDonald, a wealthy ranchman whose cattle feed on a thousand hills, and whose great stone house is located 25 miles from Cheyenne, Wyo., followed hard and fast on special trains last week to intercept his daughter Anna, who had eloped with Walter Hartwell, a drug clerk at Van Tassels, the little town near McDonald's ranch. The old man had two big revolvers strapped to his waist, and he told every and fireman on each and every train on which he rode of the many things he was going to do to Walter when he caught him.

But when the old man reached Oma ha his anger had cooled, and he fell on the hotel clerk's neck and said: "Say, pard, I was mad. Yes, I was. And I was a-going to fill that tenderfoot full of plaintive holes. Yes, I were. But, say, pard, it's all over now. I jest want my little Anna. I'm a poor old lone fool dad, and I want my little girl, azd I want to take her back home with me, and if she wants to bring that pillmixin' dude back with her, why, all right. I guess I can stand it if she can. And, say, I've changed my mind about a-shootin' of him. Yes, I have, pard. Instead of that I'm a-going to give 'em $10,000 for a weddin' present. And there's more where that came from, pard. Just so's I get my little Annie, pard, I won't have to look at him, anyhow, and if the Injuns don't ranch and get his three square meals a day all of his sweet life. All I wants is my little girl, pard; that's all."

THE LIGHTNING AT WORK.

Steam power is to be superseded by electricity in the government dock yards at Kiel, Germany.

Electricity is to be used to passengers to the top of the Wash ington monument, Washington, D. C. The electric fan bids fair to supersede the punkah coolies of India. The regular price for four coolies to divide up the 24 hours is six cents each. With electrical fans the work can be done for one-third of the cost, and considerable inconvenience may be avoided.

It has been suggested that the electric heaters of trolley cars be connected to the controller on the platform, so that when the nighest speed is required the heaters will be cut off. They require some little time to cool off, so that the heating effect will be sufficient. This will reduce the demand for current by the heaters when full speed is necessary. A NEW MOTOR.

Invention of a German-Heat Ention by Electricity.

From Germany comes the design of a emarkable motor that turns heat energy directly into motion through the intermediary action of electricity. The machine is called a thermo-electric motor, and works on the familiar principle of the electric motor somewhat modfied to meet the peculiar exigencies of the case. In action it is essentially an electric motor, but one driving its electrical energy from heat applied to it through thermo-electric couples. thermo-electric couple is composed of two dissimilar metals, such as iron and copper. Any mplete circuit made of wo metals must necessarily have two junctions of the two in it. If one of these junctions is heated more than the other an electric current will flow in the circuit, its amount and direction depending on the nature of the two metals, the difference in temperature between the two junctions and the resistance it encounters in its path. On the motor machine the couples are made of iron and nickel, firmly brazed together. They are arranged like the windings of the ordinary electric motor, with one set of junctions brought conveniently to the surface, where gas jets play upon them, The other set are cooled by a rapid circulation of air about them, engendered by the rotation of the machine. While the motor is of no practical value, it is an exceedingly interesting exemplification of the ease with which energy may be transformed and retransformed through the various forms of heat, electricity and motion.

WANTED TO KICK A MAJOR.

Winston Churchill's Little Joke a Pompous, Self-Opinionated Officer.

Among the assembled officers at a recent supper in South Africa was a very pompous, self-opinionated major, whose rank commanded for him a respectful hearing, but whose habit of instructing his brethren in matters military, both in and out of season, made him . rather unpopular. Winston Churchill and the major sat side by side at the table, and the martial potentate voiced his opinions in the usual manner. Churchill bore the infliction dumbly for a season; then, taking advantage of a pause, when the major wanted to take a breath, he said, very complacently and irrelevantly: "Do you know, major, I met a man this morning who would gladly forfeit £ 50 for the pleasure of kicking you."
"Kicking me, sir!" roared the angry major; "kicking me! I must ask you to mention his name immediately!" But the fact is, major, I am not sure that I ought to tell you," replied Churchill, with well-assumed caution. "But I insist on knowing his name at once, sir!" shouted the truculent officer, now red with rage. "Well, sir, I suppose I must tell you. JAPS ARE POPULAR.

Washington Society Is Pleased with the Mikado's Legation.

Mme. Takahira, Wife of the New Minister, Is Well Liked-She Is a Beauty, Even from an Occidental Point of View.

The Japanese legation is cof the most popular and best administered of and softness for which Japanese wom the legations at Washington, yet it is one of the youngest. The first minister from Japan visited this government only 40 years ago, and it is scarcely 30 years since the famous embassy with Mr. Iwakura at its head arrived. This embassy had as its object the making of treaties with the United States and other civilized powers, and started out to make a tour of the world, but so impressed was Ambassador lwakura with the advantages to be gained from a long residence at the American capital that he remained in Washington for six months. In that time he gave 80 official dinners and a banquet for 1,600 people which rivaled in elegance anything ever seen in America, and picturesque tales are still told of his princely entertaining. Diplomatic in-tercourse between the United States and Japan was established by Mr. Iwakura's visit, and since then it has never been interrupted. Japan has sent to this country the flower of her statesmen, and no nation with which the United States has diplomatic relations has been represented by men of higher intelligence or greater capacity. Good taste and conservatism have invariably marked the administration of the Japanese legation, and tration of the Japanese legation, and that it will hold the high place it has attained under the new minister is not to be doubted, for Mr. Takahira comes to us with a ripe experience. comes to us with a ripe experience, having already served here as consulgeneral and represented his government as minister to China and at several of the European capitals.

ment. These prolonged visits in for-eign countries have enabled Mme. Takahira to become acquainted with their languages and their people, and the experience she has had at the European courts will be of advantage to her even in this republican stronghold.

Mme. Takahira, says the New York Tribune, is a fine looking woman, even from the occidental point of view. which differs so materially regarding the beauty of women from that of the orient. Her complexion has the tinge en are famous, her eyes are large and expressive, and her wealth of glossy black hair is worn in the prevailing style, brushed back from a pretty brow. But the most att active feature Mme. Takahira possesses is the vivacious expression and the quick respon siveness one notes in her face when she is conversing.

Not since the days of Mr. Yoshida have the women of the Japanese legation retained their native costume which is rapidly going out of fashion in Japan among the higher classes and, like her predecessors, the wife of the new minister has adopted European dress; but, unlike many of her sisters, her clothes are in exquisite taste and her jewels are beaut.ful. It is doubtful, indeed, .. any woman in the diplomatic corps possesses more gorgeous gems. Ame. Takahira has three children, who are in Japan, and will not at present join their parents.

Mint Sauce, Etc.

Mint sauce is the aigre douce of Ed. ward I.; blancmange was made of capons or pike boiled to a mash; cabbages were eaten "thikked with grated bread," by the common people, but for a lord they had to be treated with yolks of eggs, and an equal distinction was observed with pike, which had to be cut up into pleces for ordinary folk, while those of higher degree had it served whole. A favorite dish at the supper parties of the wild Prince Hal was "pondorrage," s mixture of partridges, pork and yolks of eggs, first boiled and then roasted in batter. It was then made into small lumps about the size and shape of apples, and colored to taste. Pork, it may be mentioned, was much used at this time, in proportion to other meats as three to one.-Notes and Queries.

Reaping Rice in Louisians.

The application of scientific irrigation methods has recently given a new development to rice culture in southwestern Louisiana, as explained in a bulletin of the department of agriculture. Rice requires wet lands, but on such lands harvesting machinery cannot be used. The difficulty has been met by flooding the dry prairie lands during the growth of the rice, and then draining them, by a system of pumps, canals and levees, when the crop is nearly ripe. On the drained lands it is possible to use reapers to harvest the rice; thus the cheap labor employed in foreign rice-growing countries can be met by American machinery .- Youth's Charles M. Hays to Be President of the Southern Pacific.

He Is a Native of Rock Island, Ill., 46 Years of Age, and Has Been General Manager of the Grand Trunk Road.

Charles M. Hays, now general man-ager of the Grand Trunk railroad of Canada, has been selected as the next president of the Southern Pacific company. This selection is looked upon by railroad men generally as a good one, for Mr. Hays has been remarkably successful in modernizing the Grand Trunk and in effecting economies that have borne fruit in the dividends paid to shareholders.

In bringing to a head the question of who should be the president of the Southern Pacific, the interests in the Huntington estate, which is represented by C. H. Tweed, who is one of the executors, were thrown in with those of the bankers headed by Speyer & Co. Members of the Huntington family and their following among the share-holders were inclined to favor the placing of H. E. Huntington at the head of the company.

Against these interests were arrayed the bankers, who have determined that dividends shall be paid to stockholders instead of all the income of the property being used for improvements and betterments, as was formerly the policy of the company.

Directors of the company deny without equivocation the recent stories which have been circulated in regard to the Vanderbilts purchasing a controlling interest in the property.

Charles M. Hays will take charge of the road on January 1, 1901. According to advices from London he has already resigned from the Grand Trunk. Mr. Hays, who is about 46 years of age, has occupied many important positions on American railways. Born at Rock Island, in the state of Illinois, his first railway experience was in minor capacities on the Atlantic & Pacific. Later he was with the Missouri Pacific and then with the Wabash, having become general manager of the latter system in 1889 and vice president in 1894.

When Sir Charles Rivers Wilson became president of the Grand Trunk in 1896 Mr. Hays was appointed general manager, and has been largely instrumental in placing that road on a substantial financial basis.

The avowed policy of the new regime will be to earn and pay dividends to the stockholders.

The announcement that Mr. Hays has been chosen to succeed Collis P. Huntington caused considerable surprise in financial circles. Among the many guesses that have been made the name of Mr. Hays was not mentioned, and the intimation that he might be the man came from abroad. During the two months that have elapsed since Mr. Huntington's death the general impression seems to have been that President Hawley, of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, would be called upon to preside over the Southern Pacific.

Had it not been for the fact that under the new regime the president will be compelled to live in California, there is no question that Mr. Hawley would have been induced to accept the position. But the president of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad prefers New York and his New Jersey home to a salary of $40,000 a year and compulsory residence on the Pacific coast.

The fact that the new president will be compelled to live on the Pacific coast shows that the position of president of the Southern Pacific will no longer be what it was under the Huntington regime. Huntington dominated, and Huntington's word was law. The duty of the new president will be to carry out the policy mapped out by the fi-rectors, who will govern from New York and who will make known their wishes to California through the president of the road.

Huntington was a ruler; Hays will be a confidential employe who will receive $40,000 a year. When asked whether Mr. Hays represented any particular interests Mr. Tweed replied: "No: Mr. Hays represents all inter-

Mr. Tweed will direct the financial interests of the Southern Pacific.

Boy's Essay on Habit,

A schoolmaster once said to his pupils that to the boy who would make the best piece of composition in five minutes on "How to Overcom Habit" he would give a prize. When the five minutes had expired a lad of nine years stood up and said: "Well, sir, habit is hard to overcome. If you take out the first letter it does not change 'abit.' If you take off another letter you still have a 'bit' left. If you take off still another, the whole of 'it' remains. If you take off another it is not totally used up, all of which goes to show that if you want to get rid of a habit you must throw it off altogether." Result-He won it.

Colorado Miner Makes a Deal with Leopeld of Belgium.

Thomas F. Walsh to Invest Monarch's Money in Mines - How the Western Man Met His Associate.

Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado milllonsire mine owner, whose lavish entertainments have been a feature of the social side of the Paris exposition has, according to a cable from Paris, formed a business partnership with a king. The monarch is Leopold of Belgium, and several millions of his money will be invested in America by Mr. Walsh. King Leopold's business operations in Belgian Africa have given him the reputation of being, to say the least, a shrewd man. His dealings with the natives have, it is said, been the subject of correspondence between European governments

Mr. Walsh met King Leopold several times in Belgium in addition to the meeting when he entertained the monarch at dinner. On one of these occasions the king brought up the subject of the International Sleeping Car company, in which he is one of the principal stockholders, and which is in great need of cash for improvements. Mr. Walsh was asked by his royal neighbor at dinner if he would not like a few shares of stock, which, the king declared, would pay him four or five per cent. Mr. Walsh re-plied that he did not invest in anything that paid less than ten per cent, and that most of his investments were bringing 20 per cent. King Leopold became greatly interest-ed at this and exhibited a lively desire to know all about it. Finally, he asked Mr. Walsh if he happened to know of any American mine investment in which a king might place a million or two. It is said to have taken Leopold two weeks to convince Mr. Waish that a partnership with a king was not a bad business, and then an agreement was signed, by which the king becomes the partner of Thomas F. Walsh in certain American mining investments. It is thought Leopold will dispose of his sleeping car holdings in order to go fully into the American deal.

Out in Colorado no one knows how much Mr. Walsh is worth, but he is the sole owner of the Camp Bird mine, which is worth $35,000,000, and has large interests in other enterprises. His income is estimated at $100,000 s month. He is extremely popular with the miners on account of his democracy, which admits all alike to his table, at his Washington residence as well as at Leadville and Camp Bird He became famous for his entertainments before he stepped out of the bounds of Colorade, where he erected s luxurious hotel for the use of his men, and when he removed to Washington to save his wife's failing health he opened the doors of his residence to all and spared no money to "give everyone a good time." He has been subjected to a great deal of criticism on his unlimited invitation lists, but his habit of inviting high and low and spending as much on entertaining one as the other is credited to an honest desire to let all enjoy themselves to the fullest possible extent under his roof. He was born in Tip-perary, Ireland, in 1851, and came to America in 1870. He began the study of mining almost upon his arrival in the United States, and, going to Colorado, employed himself as a build-ing contractor while he looked around for an opportunity. This he found 12,000 feet above the sea level, where mine experts had declared it would be ruinous to attempt to mine. Mr. Walsh succeeded, and the Camp Bird gold mine, which is located at that altitude, is one of the richest in the state. The Camp Bird hotel, in which his miners live, is fitted out with porcelain bathtube, steam heat, library and smoking-rooms. It accom-modates 400 men, who live there in sumptuous style at a small cost. The hotel is characteristic of Mr. Walsh's attitude toward his men, and he has never been troubled by a strike.

The Old Doctor Was Mean.

"I don't like our doctor," said small Bobby. "Why not?" asked his aunt. "Because," answered the little fellow, "I caught a cold bad enough to keep me out of school two weeks and the mean old doctor went and cured it in two days."

OZONO!

King of Hair Dressings.

WHAT IS OZONO?

A preparation prepared solely and distinctly to improve the condition of the hair of the negro race. Not a worthless, offensive, obnoxious, greasy mass of injurious nostrums, but a delicately perfumed unguent, beautiful to look upon; made to adorn the lady, polish the gentleman, benefit youth, and gladden old age. OZONO straightens knotty, nappy, kinky, refractory hair. OZONO does this alone. No hot irons are necessary; no plastering down with grease. OZONO individually straightens, without any outside assistance. It will cause the hair to come back on bald spots. It will restore gray hair to its natural color. It, will cause the hair to grow long and straight, soft and fine, and beautiful as an April morn. It will cure all itching, burning, running, humiliating Scalp Diseases, Dandrug. Tetter, Scurf, and Eczema. Itch cannot live after OZONO has been applied. It is as pure as the dew-drop, beautiful as the morn, and harmless as the rippling water in the babbling brook. Cleanliness is next to Godliness; filth is a crime. If your hair is short and harsh and kinky; if your scalp is covered with scurf and dandruff, or itch, or eczema it is doubtless your faut, talone. If your little ones' heads are a mass of crusty, scalv, flaky scurf, teeming with germs and microbes, that are invisible to the naked eye, but which are sapping the life from the hair and destroying it forever, and you allow this state to go on, it is a crime. It is your place to stop this—a duty you owe to yourself, to your child, to your Maker. OZONO is your remedy. OZONO will positively and permanently remove all the disease, and straighten and beautify the hair, making it silky and glossy and black as the raven's wing. OZONO, as compared with other hair remedies, stands as high as the mountain peak, fair as the lily, and glorious as the sun. OZONO is King. The price is 50c. a box. It requires about four boxes to complete the treatment.

OUR GRAND OFFER.

Write to us at once, enclosing the small sum of ONE DOLLAR, and we will immediately forward to you four large boxes of OZONO. We will also send you one large bottle of ELECTRIC SKIN REFINER, which makes rough skin soft and brightens the blackest skin, making it several shades lighter. Now, there is much fraud practiced with face bleaches. Understand, we do not advertise this bleach to make one white. God alone can accomplish this, and it would be mirach lous. Unpin your faith from frauds. We assert that our Refiner will soften rough skin and brighten black skin, but it can do no more. Take our advice; don't fool with any bleach that is advertised to make you white; it is more apt to poison you. We will also include one fancy jar of ELECTRICAL SKIN FOOD, which is a sure remedy for all Skin Eruptions, Pimples, Black Heads, Liver Spots, and all Skin Diseases. It will remove Wrinkles, Scars, Facial Blemishes, and will positively take out Small-Pox Pits. This is saying a great deal, but it is true. It makes the old look young and the young look younger. And, lastly, to prove our liberality, we will add a one-pint package of ANTI-ODOR. This remedy removes all smells and odors arising from the human body. Its uses are too numerous to mention. Full directions go with all goods. This grand aggregation is worth $3.50. Send $1.00, mention the name of this paper, and you will get the goods at once. We ship all orders same day goods are received. ship all orders same day goods are received.

We wish to state that we are a thoroughly reliable firm, having many thousand dollars in our business. We refer to the editor of this paper, or to any business house in Richmond. Our remedies and our business is founded on the altar of truth. Write your name and address plainly,

The Intrepte Missionary Who Guided the Allfed Forces from Tientain to Peking.

Rev. Frederick Brown, under whose guidance the allied forces marched from Tientsin to Peking, is a missionary and the presiding elder of the Tientwin district of the Methodist Episcopa mission in North China. Mr. Brown has labored in the land of the Manchus and Tartars for upward of 17 years. In that time he has traveled much between Tientsin and Peking, and, thoroughly familiar as he was with every foot of the way, no better guide for the forces in their march of relief could have been found. When the outbreak of the Boxers occurred in Peking Mr. Brown was the last foreigner to get safely away. Later he went to Chefoo, from which point he sent nearly all the unofficial able dispatches that came to America describing the situation in China. He one chance to save her life, and that was the operation.

Both husband and wife consented. She was taken to the hospital in a coach." Anaesthetics were administered. Dr. Peterson first made an incision into the throat just below the lower jaw bone, while Prof. Bristow and others stood at hand to check any hemorrhages.

The variation of a hair's breadth with the knife meant death. When the aesophagus was opened or exposed a vertical slit was made in it with a pair of forceps and the broken plate was removed. The treatment of the case is as equally interesting. The slightest movement of the patient's throat or muscles of the head might cause death, and such movement must be prevented. When the wound was treated antiseptically the patient's head and upper part of her body and arms were incased in a plaster of paris cast. This prevented any movement, and nothing is allowed to pass the woman's lips.

Every 20 minutes a nurse moistens her lips with water, but she is given nothing to eat or drink. She is fed artificially. To eat would interfere with the wound's healing.

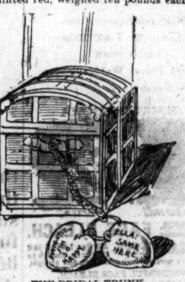

Dr. Peterson said that indications were very favorable and that Mrs. Hoffman would recover. She will have to remain in plaster of paris for ten days from the day of operation, and even after must be very careful.

Bridal Pair Arrive in Chicago with Luggage That Amused Porters and Bellboys.

According to the Chicago Inter the highest state office he did effective Ocean two true hearts that beat as campaign work for Harrison and Mor-, one came into the Victoria hotel the other day. They were in the bosoms of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight B. Louis, who were married in Milwaukee the by opiates, but for serious heart night before.

Two false hearts that beat as two were brought into the hotel a few minutes later. They belonged to the bridal trunk of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight young man-B. Louis, were made of iron, were painted red, weighed ten pounds each.

and were fastened to the trunk by a heavy chain. On one side of each of the hearts was the instription: "Dwightie, I'm so happy!"

On the other was: "Ella, same here."

Friends of the bridal couple in Milvaukee had had fun with the baggage before it was checked at Milwankee. When the trunks arrived the guests of the hotel looked at them curiously. and when the baggage went up to the bridal chamber a laugh was heard in the corridors.

Soon the bell rang. A bellboy ran upstairs with a file. Half an Lour later there was a clatter in the street. Iwo iron hearts reposed on the pavement. The two real hearts kept the seclusion of their rooms during the day. They feared the vividness of their blushes would cause flames to break out in the hotel.

graduate at the University of Chicago 75c per buttle. might have added much to the present knowledge of scientists had not the experiment been suddenly checked. A zealous young student of sociology went among the university belies courting one and then another to note the manner of responses love prompted each to make. He was meeting with success beyond expectation when discovery by one of the gtris brought the plan to an abrupt end. It is a story of Agency at THE BEE Office. Cupid disappointment and maidens jilted.

The unique idea of original research was suggested to the young man, whose name is Charles Bush, during a lecture on the phenomena of love. It was a custom much in vogue in the psychological department of the university for students to experiment upon one another and so in this respect he was only following precedent, but in all the other instances the subjects knew precisely when the experiments began. It would not have done for the girls to know that Bush's devotion was altogether in the interest of science, for the results would not have been the same. For this reason Bush kept his purpose concealed as far as possible and discovery was only accidental.

As Bush is popular in the social set at the university, attentions to any of the girls were noticeable when continued. Some of the gossips observed that he was devoted to one of the hall girls and then dropped her for another, to whom he was not less attentive. A repetition of the occurrence caused a good deal of talk among those whe thought it strange, and one time when a number of the girls were chatting together the secret of Bush's love-making came out.

WAS MEETING WITH SUCCESS.

Bush's escapades are not agreed in opinion about them. Some regard the incident as a joke. Others are inclined to be indignant that a man should be so indifferent to a girl's pride. One young woman said: "He is worse than a vivisectionist. because physical pain can be allayed younds there is no remedy."

Bush explained his experiments by saying that he went no further with any of the girls than many another

"I did not carry matters so far as to make a proposal to any of the girls," Bush said. "It was not necessary. Any of the things I may have done I am sure were perfectly permissible and not dif- ! ferent than others are in the habit of doing with their girl friends."

Bush says the girls have done him an injustice in asserting that he heart-lessly made them the subjects of ex-ceived his sight, the surgeon who had periments, but there were at least 12 of the young women who stated positively that the young man's courtships had no other purpose than to garner psychological data for a thesis which will be handed to the head of the department in a few weeks.

Dog Begs for Morphine.

An Irish setter owned by Dr. J. W. Snowball, of Atlantic City, was recently run over and had his back severely injured. Feeling sure the dog would die, the doctor began to experiment with morphine. One morning he forgot to give the dog its injection. It crept into the omce and lay at the doctor's feet. He was unable to understand its queer autics. Finally it crawled to the medicine chest from which he had taken the morphine, and, looking up at the chest, it began to whine. Dr. Snowbad wondered if the dog was really trying to make him understand that it wanted its injection. He took the injector and morphine from the chest. When the dog saw the implement it barked gladly and lay on its back, whining for the doctor to inject the drug.

Pretty Ghost Haunts Texas. Between the towns of Hanover and New Oxford, in Texas, the ghost of an attractive young woman is said to haunt a lane in the most exasperating way. Several times susceptible young farmers have invited the young lady to ride, and have been on the verge of lifting her into a wagon when she has disappeared in a little wisp of smoke. She has a sky-blue shirt waist and a jaunty sailor hat that are said Insurance for bathers is the newest to be most becoming. As to the au-England. Blind Bridegroom in English High Life Recovers Use of His Eyes at the Altar.

Wealth and position have material'y aided romance in preparing a happy Jos. J. Kelley aided romance in preparing a happy William Hart Dyke's son, whose marriage to the daughter of Admiral Cave occurred in London recently.

Although the marriage was selemn ized on Friday-that day so often shunned by mating couples—the res-toration of the bridegroom's sight, though but partial, served to lend to the occasion a most happy flavor, and now that the talented son of so illustrious a sire has embarked simultaneously upon the seas of matrimony and politics all England is predicting for the young man a brilliant 14th and K Sts., n. w future.

Hart Dyke, who is about 24 years of age, in spite of complete blindness extending over a period of 14 years, is a graduate, with high honors, of Cambridge. Throughout his school and college career he was under the tutelage of special instructors, who were handsomely paid to teach and especially fit the young man to follow in the political footsteps of Sir William, his father, who, as vice president of the committee of the privy council on education, is virtually the minister of public instruction of the British empire, and as such occupies a seat in the Salisbury cabinet. For a long time past the bridegroom has been undergoing treatment by the most noted of English specialists, and while they have all along held out encouragement for the restoration of his sight, it was at the instance of the young man himself that the moment NORMANDUE cal with the moment of his supreme happiness.

It was in the church, when he was about to go up to the altar to marry the lovely daughter of Admiral Cave, that the son of Sir William Dyke retreated him for ten years removing the bandages from his eyes,

The young benedict is a very brilliant young man, and his parents' favorite. He is regarded as likely achieve the same amount of political distinction as the late Prof. Fawcett, who, in spite of being entirely blind, held a chair at the University of Oxford, and who remains on record as the most efficient and satisfactory postmaster general that has ever held office in England.

Ben and Cat Friendship.

A Pennsylvania farmer proudly points to a singular friendship be tween a hen and a cat. The hen had a brood of eight fluffy chicks, and the cat was the mother of four downy kittens. Shortly after the latter had their eyes opened the mother eat earried them to the chicken coop and introduced them to the hen, who received them kindly. Pretty soon they got into the habit of going there of their own accord; and when mother hen settled down over her little ones, the four kittens huddled up close to her. The old cat viewed this action without any jealousy, and after awhile only visited them at meal time, while the kittens rambled around with the hen and her chicks. Naturally, this strange friendship will be disrupted when the chicks and kittens grow to maturity.

There Are Such Fools. "Yes, we had to take Emma out of school, you know. She isn't at all strong, and we feared the application to study was undermining her health. It's never wise to permit a young girl to overexert herself."

It was the fond mother who spoke, and the sympathetic neighbor naturally asked what the invalid was doing to pass away the time.

"Oh, she's getting a great deal of enjoyment out of her bicycle," was the reply. "She made a century run yesterday and another about a week ago."-Chicago Post.

Very Neatly Put. A city man complained bitterly of the conduct of his son. He related at length to an old friend all the young man's escapades. "You should speak to him with firmness and recall him to his duty," said the friend.

"But he pays not the least attention to what I say. He listens only to the advice of idiots. I wish you would talk to him."-Tit-Bits.

The Finest.

"Uncle John," remarked Dick, "is the finest after-dinner speaker I know of." "Why," said his friend, with some actonishment, "I never heard he had any ability in that direction at all."

"Well, he has. I've dined with him several times at various places, and after dinner he always says: "That's all right my boy, I'll pay for it." -Colliar's Weekly.

Not That Kind. "So John is at college?"

"I suppose, then, he's busy sowing his wild oats?" "No; John is at an agricultural college."-Town Topics.

Had Been a Change. Kansas Man (visiting in the east)-We have lots of near neighbors now. Friend-Why, I thought your nearest neighbor was 20 miles away. "Yes; but we've had a cyclone since then."-Harlem Life.
